Navin Gupta named a 2025 healthcare executive to watch by Home Health Care News / WTWH Healthcare

Navin Gupta, CEO of Viventium, recognized as a 2025 Healthcare Executive to Watch for his leadership and innovation in healthcare technology and workforce management.

Published January 21, 2026

We are proud to announce that Navin Gupta, CEO of Viventium, has been named one of the 2025 Healthcare Executives to Watch by Home Health Care News (HHCN), presented by WTWH Healthcare, a distinction recognizing influential leaders shaping the future of home-based and post-acute care.

As CEO of Viventium, Navin brings deep expertise in healthcare technology and human capital management, driving innovation and growth that align with evolving industry needs. This recognition highlights his leadership in empowering providers with workforce-focused solutions that improve operational performance and support caregivers and clinicians across the care continuum.

About the recognition:

- Executive leadership impact: Honorees are selected for their strategic influence and commitment to advancing care delivery and workforce excellence in home and post-acute settings.
- Industry influence: This annual list showcases leaders whose work drives meaningful progress in workforce engagement, technology adoption, and operational outcomes.

This honor reflects Navin's continued dedication to service-oriented innovation and Viventium's mission to simplify workforce management for healthcare providers every day.

Want a deeper look at the leaders shaping what's next? The Home Health Care News Executives to Watch report highlights the voices driving innovation, growth, and workforce transformation. Download the full report to see who's influencing the future.

About Navin Gupta:

Navin has steadily built a reputation at the intersection of healthcare, technology, and business. His leadership philosophy prioritizes engagement, efficacy, and impact, guiding Viventium's mission to serve over half a million healthcare workers and caregivers in the US through streamlined HR and payroll software designed specifically for the health services industry.

We’re honored to see him recognized among the digital health elite for 2025, a testament to his vision and the growing influence of Viventium in advancing digital care delivery.