Published August 8, 2025

We are proud to announce that Navin Gupta, CEO of Viventium, has been named one of the Top Digital Health Leaders of 2025 by Slice of Healthcare, in partnership with Digital Health Wire. This annual distinction recognizes 50 exceptional leaders across digital health who have been selected through public nomination and voting.

As the CEO of Viventium, Navin Gupta brings over two decades of experience driving technology innovation and scaling SaaS solutions tailored to healthcare. He previously led transformative work at LifeLoop, ResMed SaaS, Philips Healthcare, Siemens, and MatrixCare, advancing patient engagement systems, critical care tools, and post-acute care SaaS platforms.

About the award:

- Public and peer recognition: Finalists were selected from a pool of public nominations, with those receiving the most votes earning spots on the final roster of 50 leaders published on June 18, 2025.
- Digital health impact: The award celebrates individuals driving technology adoption, access expansion, and digital transformation in the health industry.
- Alignment with Viventium's mission: Navin's focus on advancing human capital management software solutions for healthcare deeply aligns with the broader movement for innovation in the care industry.

This recognition is more than just an accolade. It reflects the meaningful impact Navin Gupta has made in shaping the future of healthcare technology. Selected through a rigorous nomination and voting process, this honor highlights the vision, dedication, and leadership that has propelled Navin and Viventium to the forefront of innovation.

By championing solutions that simplify workforce management and empower care staff, Navin's leadership continues to drive significant advancements in healthcare, aligning with the broader mission of creating accessible, tech-enabled healthcare for all.

About Navin Gupta:

Navin has steadily built a reputation at the intersection of healthcare, technology, and business. His leadership philosophy prioritizes engagement, efficacy, and impact, guiding Viventium's mission to serve over half a million healthcare workers and caregivers in the US through streamlined HR and payroll software designed specifically for the health services industry.

We're honored to see him recognized among the digital health elite for 2025, a testament to his vision and the growing influence of Viventium in advancing digital care delivery.
