Recognition highlights innovative technology helping healthcare organizations strengthen care team connections and workforce collaboration.

Cranford, NJ – September 23, 2026 - Viventium + Apploi has been named a Silver Award recipient in the Building Bridges category at the 2026 McKnight's Excellence in Technology Awards. The award honors the long-term care industry's premier programs driving technology innovation and impact. Viventium + Apploi was honored alongside Saber Healthcare Group for “connecting care teams with intelligent hiring."

The Building Bridges category recognizes the use of technology to improve connections among staff members, care providers, residents and patients and their families. Viventium + Apploi received the Silver recognition for helping healthcare organizations build stronger, more connected care teams through intelligent hiring technology that supports workforce collaboration and continuity of care.

Presented annually by McKnight's, the Excellence in Technology Awards celebrate forward thinking solutions improving operations, workforce management and care across the industry. Winners are selected by an independent panel of long-term care stakeholders and recognized for demonstrating innovation, measurable impact and meaningful results.

"We are honored to be recognized by McKnight's with a Silver Award in the Building Bridges category," said Navin Gupta, Chief Executive Officer of Viventium. "This recognition reflects the impact that healthcare-specific technology can have in bringing people together across the care continuum. At a time when providers continue to face workforce challenges, we remain committed to delivering solutions that help organizations attract, hire and support the caregivers who make exceptional care possible."

The award reflects Viventium + Apploi's commitment to developing technology purpose-built for healthcare providers and the workforce challenges they face. By helping organizations strengthen hiring processes and build more connected teams, the company continues to support providers in delivering high-quality care while improving operational efficiency.
